America

- A near-conjunction of transiting Pluto with natal Pluto throughout the fall will likely intensify the current political divide in the country and we may also face challenges from abroad.
- Squares between the transiting Lunar Nodes and the natal Moon and Mercury will create a sense of intensity that will last throughout the fall but will be strongest in September.
- A near-conjunction between transiting Chiron and natal Chiron will fade in September, but a near-opposition between transiting Chiron and natal Saturn will become stronger in November and December. Thus, more wounding to the nation from past actions is likely.
- Several long-lasting trines and sextiles involving Neptune will bring compassionate relief to many.
- Transiting Saturn trine natal Venus and transiting Jupiter sextile natal Sun will bring in a period of some grace in October and November.

- Transiting Jupiter in Taurus quincunx natal Saturn in Libra in September and early October could result in budget battles at home or economic adjustments abroad.
- Transiting Uranus in Taurus semisextile natal Chiron in Aries and natal Mars in Gemini could result in some wounding and increased tensions in November and December as people try to adjust to changing economic conditions.
- With transiting Chiron in Aries conjunct the Sun/Moon midpoint on September 30, not far from the fall equinox, the American people could experience more wounding from violence, conditions related to global warming, or other conditions.
- With transiting Uranus in Taurus conjunct the Mars/Chiron midpoint on December 11, not far from the winter solstice, the American people have an increased likelihood of experiencing violent wounding due to changing economic conditions or radical beliefs.
- With the Sun and Moon opposite natal Chiron during the October 14 solar eclipse, more wounding for many Americans, but healing and transcendence for others, is likely this fall.
- Several trines and sextiles throughout the fall will ameliorate tense conditions, but a near-opposition of transiting Chiron to natal Saturn at the winter solstice increases the likelihood of wounding in December.
